Comments: To: State Corporation Commission,

I am strongly in favor of burying all utility lines. A few years ago, I had the opportunity to visit Colorado Springs, CO. During my family visit, one of the things that I noticed was the beauty of the surroundings, which included no visible power lines. All utilities were under-ground, which added a great deal to the overall appearance of the area. This approach is clearly "forward thinking" and I hope to see Virginia take the same approach. I realize that this would be a massive undertaking along with a hefty expense, but the added visual benefits would increase land value and attract future business. Please invest in Virginia's future and strongly consider burying all utility lines.

thank you,

Mark Creasy
